Floor Mirror

Design by Kaschkasch Cologne

Your corners never looked this beautiful

With a strong graphic expression and many functional details, the Kaschkasch Floor Mirror is a clever solution for today's domestic urban environment with limited space. For starters, it's a full-body mirror and its triangle-shape is ideal for corners.

Its smart design also allows it to lean against a wall or stand on its own in different directions. It then transforms into a wardrobe with multiple integrated solutions for hanging up clothes, from the sides or behind the mirror. The user will always define the functions of this original space-saver.

Kaschkasch Cologne is a talented German duo we're happy to work with. The two young designers, Florian Kallus and Sebastian Schneider, have an articulated design mission:

"Our products are casual and vogueish at the same time. Precise lines and geometrical shapes give them a distinct impression, which we like to combine with intriguing colour combinations for the additional Kaschkasch touch. We want each design to offer something extra, discovered by the user little by little".

Kaschkasch Floor Mirror is made of steel and aluminium and it's presented in black, white and moss green. As an add-on, wall attachments can be bought separately.

This "Jack of all trades" is a design that masters many of our everyday needs, achieving the maximum of the minimum.
